

Calibration of single and multi gas detectors as well as fixed gas monitoring systems is required to routinely verify the output against a certified standard. Calibration also ensures the sensitivity of sensors and maximises the sensor life. Pandu provides calibration services for major brands of single and multi gas detectors and fixed gas monitoring systems. Calibrations may be organised at Pandu's testing facility or at our customer's locations and certificates of calibration will be issued.

Pandu, as the authorized agent for maintenance and service, offers routine servicing for gas detectors and fixed gas monitoring systems. We recommend a monthly service which may include calibration, checking of sensor expiries, filters, batteries and other function testing. Please contact Pandu for any repairs of your equipment.
